The 2012 College of Health Student Researcher Award was presented to Odessa Addison, DPT, of the Department of Physical Therapy at the CoH Faculty/Staff Meeting in April 2012. The Student Researcher Award is given to an outstanding CoH Graduate student who has demonstrated excellence in research activities.

Ms. Addison is completing her Ph.D. in Physical Therapy and has accepted a prestigious post-doctoral position at the University of Maryland, Division of Gerontology and Geriatric Medicine, in an NIH-sponsored T32 Training Grant in the Biology of Exercise, Metabolism, and Aging.

Congratulations on this well-deserved recognition, Odessa!
